A message from JAMES

Dear Fellow Cruiser,

*Unrivalled at Sea, World's Most Luxurious Fleet, The Most Exclusive
Address at Sea.*

When you arrive at the word
'confidence' in the dictionary, you'll see a photograph of the Regent Seven Seas Cruises marketing team. They're brimming with bold claims about their service, suites, and excursions. Some might say it's outlandish, over-the-top,
maybe even arrogant.

But 'some' would be wrong.
Categorically, inextricably, superlatively, wrong.

Regent Seven Seas Cruises make these claims because thirty years of unforgettable memory-making give them the right to make these claims.
And what proves all this beyond doubt is the silence from their competitors.

They're indisputably in a league of their own.

But why? Well, it doesn't take long to

When you sail with Regent Seven
Seas Cruises, everything is included.
Premium drinks, room service,
excursions, gratuities, speciality dining.
You name it, it's included in the cost of your fare. Go a step further with 'ultimate all-inclusive' fares and your flights and transfers are also included.

But if you look past the inclusions, it gets even better. Their ships have all-suite accommodation, 99% of which have their own veranda. If you can drag yourself out of your plush suite then you'll find yourself in an awe-inspiring art gallery, with the works of Picasso, Miró and Zheng Lu adorn their ships. Seven Seas Grandeur even hosts its own Fabergé Egg.

So, you're an industry-leader. You've got six beloved ships in your fleet.
You've got your own Fabergé egg.
What do you do next?

You launch your largest and most luxurious ship yet. Seven Seas Prestige.

But let's not give it all away.

Turn to page 6 to discover more.

All the best,

James Cole

Why CRUISE WITH Regent Seven Seas?

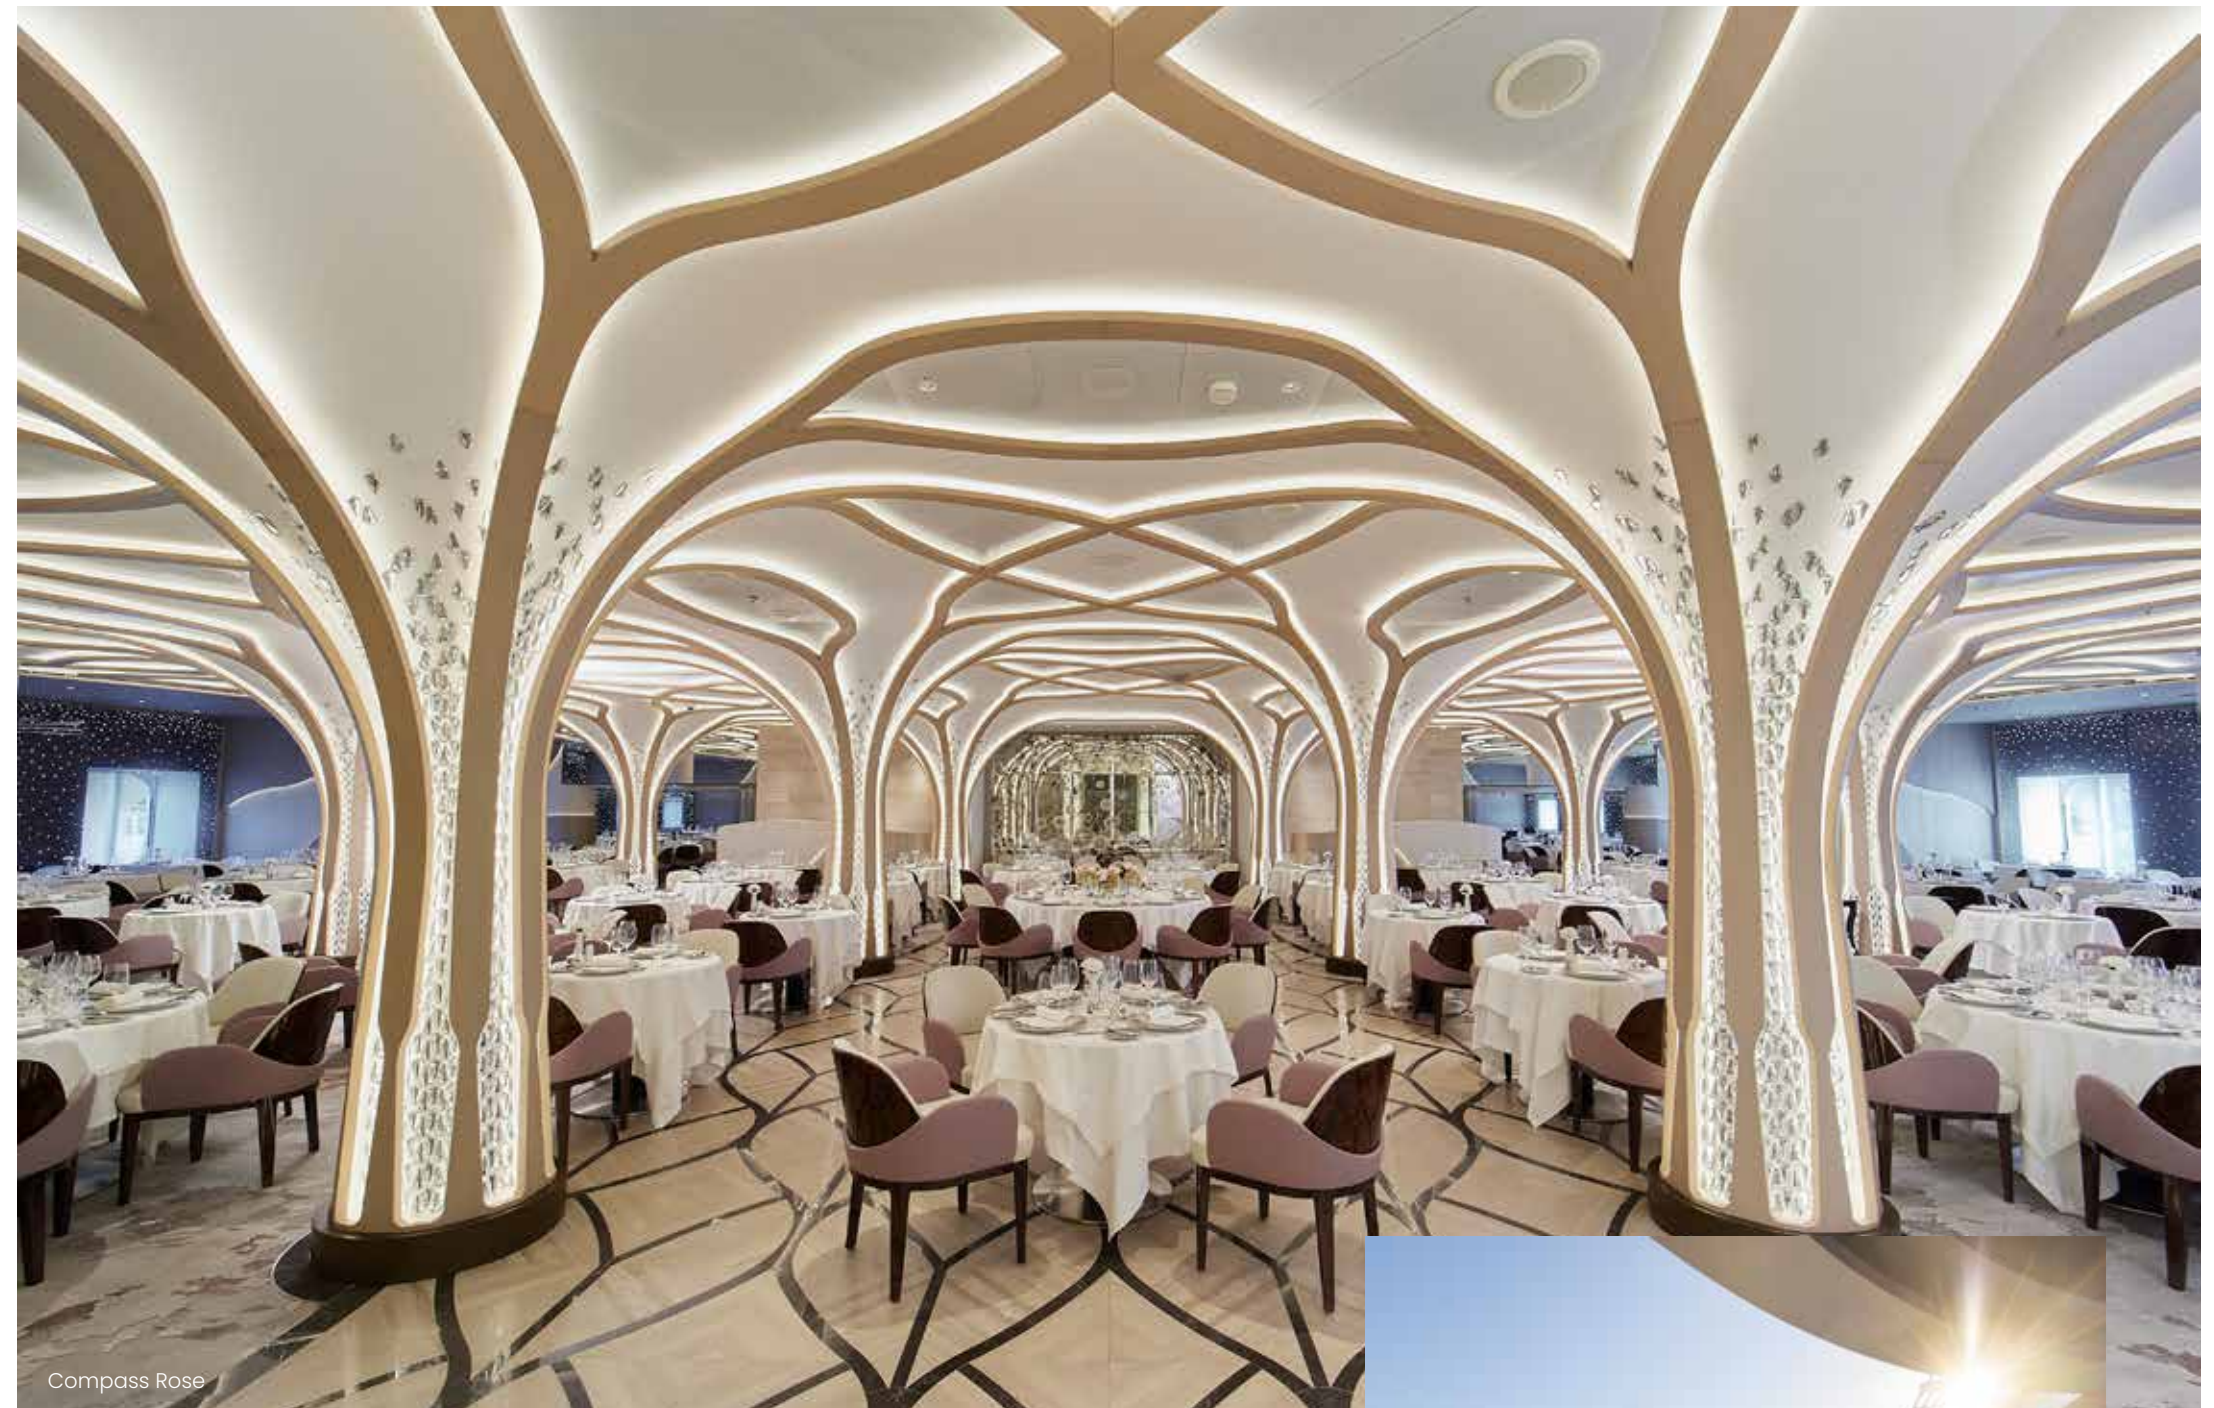

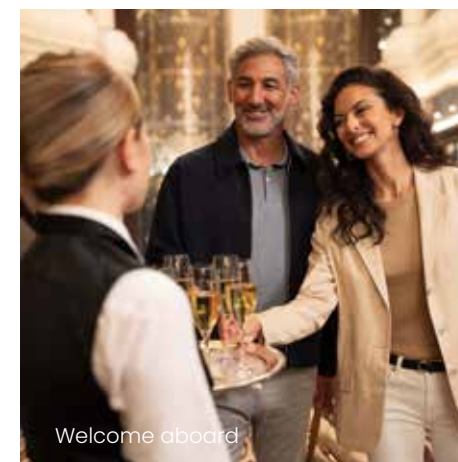

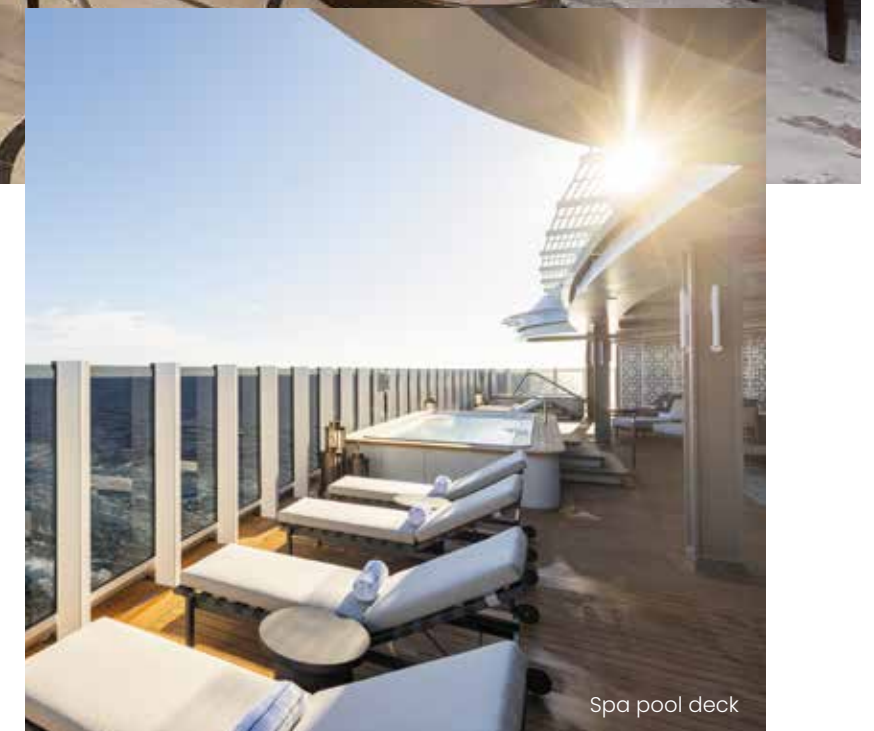

Let's be real for a moment: luxury cruise holidays aren't cheap. They're carefully-considered decisions that require planning, deliberation and trust. Firstly, we're honoured that you've chosen Panache Cruises to book your cruise, but secondly, we only want to offer cruise lines whom we know will deliver.

Enter Regent Seven Seas.

Regent Seven Seas Cruises are probably the most reliable name operating at the pinnacle of luxury cruising. They've perfected mid-size ship luxury whilst still serving up surprises all the time. But when asking the question, "Why Regent?", there is one answer that comes up time and again. Regent Seven Seas Cruises offers more fare inclusions than all other ultra-luxury lines.

Everything, from your return flights to your shore excursions, is included in the cost of your fare. This unusually comprehensive fare ensures total peace of mind from the point of booking. What makes Regent Seven Seas all the more attractive is their uncompromising commitment to quality. Michelin-standard speciality dining, world-beating service, shore excursions that get right under the skin of the destination.

If you're still asking the question, "Why Regent?" after reading this, you're probably not quite suited to the best of everything, whenever you like.

If Angels were ENGINEERS

they'd craft cruise ships like this

Ever since the launch of Seven Seas Explorer in 2016, Regent Seven Seas Cruises has trusted Fincantieri and its 230+ years of experience to craft the very best luxury cruise ships the world has seen. They make absolutely no exception with Seven Seas Prestige. Whilst we're most excited about never-before-seen features like the Skyview Suites and the lighthouse-inspired Starlight Atrium, it's the details that'll make you swoon. We're talking about the chef-grade induction cooktops in the Culinary Arts Kitchen or the aromatic steam that wafts throughout Serene Spa & Wellness.

It might sound as though we're geeking out, but how can you not get excited about a ship that promises to usurp Seven Seas Grandeur, which we already believed to be in a league of its own?

Starlight Atrium

Designed by award-winning Studio DADO, the lighthouse-inspired Starlight Atrium is the pièce de résistance of the ship. The twin spiral staircase connects several social spaces in style.

Grand Loft Suite

Two-stories, 79 sqm, and double-height windows for the most incredible views of the places you've always dreamt of seeing. Don't pinch yourself; this is as real as it gets.

Setti Mari at La Veranda

Delicious à la carte dinner menu of authentic Italian specialties and fine wines enjoyed at the rear of the ship with both indoor and al-fresco ultra-modern dining spaces available.

Azure Restaurant

A brand-new addition to Regent Seven Seas Cruises' restaurant collection, Azure promises locally-sourced ingredients and Mediterranean influences.

Galileo's Bar

Start the evening in the heart of the ship. Ensnore yourself at this lavish polished marble-topped bar, look up and discover a ceiling canvas displaying a contemporary masterpiece styled like an oil painting. Views of the Starlight Atrium complete the luxurious scene.

Skyview Suites

There are seven Skyview Suites on board Seven Seas Prestige including the Skyview Regent Suite and they're all better than any suite we've ever seen at sea.

Prestige Grand Suite living room

How Suite It Is

Morecambe and Wise. Tom and Jerry. Fincantieri and Regent Seven Seas Cruises.

Some double acts just work.

Ever since 2016, the world's most recognisable shipbuilders have been quietly cementing Regent Seven Seas Cruises' reputation of holding the 'World's Most Luxurious Fleet®'. Every new ship comes with a whole host of upgrades and innovations, from thoughtful speciality dining venues to award-winning spas.

But what's stealing the headlines aboard Seven Seas Prestige? It's the suites. Designed by Studio DADO, the 411 all-balcony suites offer unrivalled space, unparalleled comfort and some of the comfiest beds at sea.

Let's take it from the top and introduce you to the all-new Skyview Regent Suite. That's right, The Most Exclusive Address at Sea® just got a makeover. It's two stories, so your suite isn't a suite, it's a floating house. There are two bedrooms, a living room, a dining room, a private gym and a sauna. Be warned, though, because once you book the Skyview Regent Suite, you'll never want to leave.

Other brand-new additions to Seven Seas Prestige's suite selection include the marvellously modern Skyview Suites, named Aura, Luna and Sola. Located on the top deck of the ship, each suite is home to a second-floor Skyview terrace, complete with shaded areas and jetted tubs.

Have you ever heard of a suite category with a larger balcony than its interiors? No, neither had we. That is until we were introduced to the newly-appointed Signature Suites aboard Seven Seas Prestige. With 95sqm of wraparound balcony, this suite is for the sun-worshippers who also value privacy and exclusivity.

Two-storey suites are often reserved for the very best accommodation on most luxury cruise ships. It's often the thing that separates the Owner's Suite from all others. The thing that defines the best of the best. So, for Seven Seas Prestige to have five suite categories with two-storey plans is simply unthinkable. And with that, we bring you the Grand Loft Suite. Double-height floor to ceiling windows, 2nd storey bed with full ocean views, two bathrooms. Is one of anything ever enough?

GRANDEUR PLANS

A WEEK AT SEA

It's hard to describe the opulence of a Regent Seven Seas ship without actually experiencing it yourself. We could craft Pulitzer Prize-winning copy exploring the ins and outs of the ship and it still wouldn't come close to getting a first-hand account of life on board.

Luckily for you, we've been on board. I sat down with Panache Cruise Connoisseurs, Jack and Milo, to find out exactly what makes Regent Seven Seas, more specifically Seven Seas Grandeur, so magical.

Morning lads. I want to have a quick chat with you both about your recent experience aboard Seven Seas Grandeur. Firstly, can I ask where you sailed?

Jack: We started in Southampton, then went on to Liverpool. From there, we had an overnight in Belfast and another overnight in Glasgow, before visiting the Isle of Man and returning to Liverpool.

Milo: It was a pleasure being able to see places that we're sort of familiar with from a completely different perspective. Everybody should sail around the British Isles at least once in their lives.

That makes sense. And what were your first impressions when you boarded the ship?

Jack: I've been on other Regent ships before, but Grandeur definitely had the "wow" factor. It felt very glitzy and glamorous—lots of crystal details and a very modern design.

Milo: It was my first experience aboard a Regent Seven Seas ship, so I could only compare it to other cruise lines. It was clear from the outset that it was in a category of its own. From the welcome aboard to the public spaces to the facilities— everything felt considered.

So, Jack, how did it compare with the other Regent ships you've sailed on?

Jack: The other ships are excellent, but Grandeur feels enhanced. They've clearly put a lot of thought into creating something above and beyond, almost like a luxurious hotel at sea.

And how did you find your suite?

Milo: We were upgraded to a Concierge Suite and it was perfect for us. We had a walk-in wardrobe and the bathroom had a bath and shower, which always feels premium aboard a cruise ship.

Jack: The extra space made a big difference, especially since I was travelling with a co-worker rather than a partner. It was in a great midship location. The balcony was also huge. You probably could've fit four people on there quite comfortably. I really couldn't fault it.

How did you find the staff on board?

Jack: I'd say the bar staff stood out the most. They were really attentive, especially in the evenings when things got busy. They'd make the effort to chat and get to know you whenever they had time. That personal touch really made a difference.

Milo: Yeah, I'd agree. To give you an example, I asked for a whisky sour after dinner on the first night, and every night from then they asked me if I'd like one, just after the plates were cleared. To not only remember what I wanted to drink, but when I'd like it, was pretty special.

And how was the entertainment on board?

Milo: Excellent. They had a couple of special guests, a violinist and a singer, who happened to be a married couple. The onboard entertainment team were strong too, with their own shows covering rock 'n' roll, '70s and '80s classics.

And what were the performance spaces like on the ship?

Jack: I really liked the evenings in the lounges, where the orchestra or live band would play sets like the "Swinging Sixties." Normally in the theatre, they're a bit hidden, so this gave them their own spotlight, which I thought was brilliant.

That sounds like a fantastic idea. Were there any public spaces that stood out for you?

Milo: The dining was the highlight for me. Regent's specialty restaurants are always a favourite. The main dining room is good, but it can get a bit repetitive, so the variety in the specialities adds that extra touch.

Which specialty restaurant impressed you the most?

Both: The Asian restaurant!

Milo: It was called Pacific Rim, and we could've easily eaten in there every night.

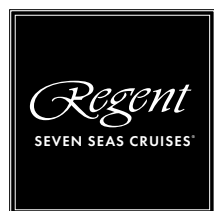

Jack: Hands down. Regent lets you order as much as you like. We ended up getting five or six dishes and sharing them around the table. The food was excellent.

Finally, if you had to pick one highlight beyond the dining, what would it be?

Jack: One of the shore excursions in Belfast really stood out. We went to an Irish bar for live folk music, just a two-piece band, but they also explained the history behind the songs and instruments. It's not something I'd have done on my own, but it gave such an authentic insight into local culture. That kind of unique, destination-specific experience really made the trip special.

Miami to Miami
Seven Seas Prestige
7 nights
20 November, 2027

- Day 1 Miami, Florida
- Day 2 Freeport, Bahamas
You're seeing shades of turquoise you didn't know existed. The sand is like talcum powder. Wander Lucaya Marketplace if you can prise yourself from your lounge.
- Day 3 Cruise the Caribbean
A day to indulge onboard. Dine at Azure, lounge by the pool, or simply watch the horizon stretch endlessly ahead.
- Day 4 Harvest Caye, Belize
When you choose Regent, expect private island exclusivity. From the green-accented lighthouse to the Mayan ruins, this is pure Central American castaway vibes.
- Day 5 Roatán, Honduras
The first thing you'll notice about Roatán is the water. It's crystal clear and perfect for diving. If you prefer firmer ground, you can hike in the lush jungle.
- Day 6 Cozumel, Mexico
Mayan ruins at Tulum, world-class snorkelling, and an endless stream of slightly-too-strong cocktails. Surely this is what heaven looks like?
- Day 7 Cruise the Florida Straits
One last chance to unwind at sea before returning to Miami.

Bali, Indonesia

Asia | Bali to Singapore

Seven Seas Mariner | 8 nights | 20 March, 2028

Day 1 Bali (Benoa), Indonesia

It's one of the world's most desirable locales for good reason. Sun-kissed beaches. Superb surf. A world of ancient temples and cheeky monkeys awaits once you head inland. Embark on a spiritual journey with visits to Tirta Empul and Besakih, Bali's mother temple.

Day 2 Bali (Benoa), Indonesia

Another full day in Benoa invites deeper immersion. Explore Ubud's lush rainforest trails and galleries showcasing Balinese art. Be careful, though, as Bali is one of those places that people find it difficult to leave. Don't miss your cruise!

Day 3 Bali (Celukan Bawang), Indonesia

This is the side of Bali you won't find on social media. It's quieter, more authentic, and is even home to black sand beaches. Visit the Buddhist monastery at Banjar, or hike to thousand-year-old waterfalls before a visit to spice plantations framed by volcanic peaks.

Day 4 Surabaya, Indonesia

While there is admittedly more to do in Bali than Surabaya, this Indonesian gem isn't without its charm. Check out the largest bridge in Southeast Asia, or dive into the city's religious melting pot with the pagoda-style Cheng Hoo Mosque or the ornately designed Buddhist temple, Sanggar Agung.

Day 5 Semarang (Java), Indonesia

Central Java is another bizarre mesh of culture, history and religion, as Dutch colonial buildings rub shoulders with colourful temples and massive mosques. If you want to get right under the skin of Semarang local life, visit a Kampung and eat at a home-run Warung. If you're looking for something a little more upscale, enjoy a cocktail at Wishbone Bar.

Day 6 Jakarta, Indonesia

Indonesia's capital pulses with infectious energy. Discover its eclectic mix of skyscrapers, heritage buildings, and bustling markets. The National Monument and Kota Tua (Old Town) reveal the city's layered history, while luxury malls showcase its cosmopolitan side.

Day 7 Cruising the Java Sea

A day to indulge in Seven Seas Mariner's unrivalled onboard luxury. Squeeze in whatever you might've missed so far.

Day 8 Singapore

Arrive in one of Asia's most glamorous and efficient cities. Gardens by the Bay and the Marina Bay Sands SkyPark offer iconic views, while Orchard Road tempts with high-end shopping. Explore the cultural quarters, from Chinatown to Little India for a kaleidoscope of flavours and traditions.

Day 1 Cape Town, South Africa

Kick off your Africa odyssey in the birthplace of human civilization. This place is quite literally the cradle of humanity, so check out ancient cave systems and head out on dramatic whale watching excursions.

Day 2 Cruising the Indian Ocean

Day 3 Port Elizabeth, South Africa

Your first port of call will be the bustling Port Elizabeth. Attractions like the penguin rescue center and the Donkin Reserve offer wonderful opportunities to soak up the blend of cultures.

Day 4 Port Elizabeth, South Africa

When in South Africa, you must go on at least one safari, and the iconic Addo National Park is just over an hour's drive. Witness enormous elephants and gentle giraffes in their natural habitat.

Day 5 Cruising the Indian Ocean

This is where you can really get a feel for the ship's offering, from the Michelin-standard dining to the onboard bocce ball. However active or indulgent you feel, there's something to keep your dopamine levels sky-high.

Day 6 Durban, South Africa

Arrive in vibrant Durban, where golden beaches meet a rich blend of Zulu, Indian, and colonial influences.

Day 7 Durban, South Africa

Visit the bustling Victoria Street Market, tour the lush Botanic Gardens, or stroll the beachfront promenade known as the Golden Mile. Depart late evening.

Day 8-9 Cruising the Indian Ocean

Day 10 Cruising the Mozambique Channel

Day 11 Mayotte, French Comoros

As the ship docks in Mayotte, you might feel as though you've drifted into a Caribbean hideaway, but you are, in fact, in the heart of the French

SEVEN SEAS CRUISES

Comoros. Wander fragrant ylang-ylang plantations or stroll the colourful market in Mamoudzou.

Day 12 Nosy Be, Madagascar

Known as the "Perfume Island," Nosy Be delights with tropical flowers, rum distilleries, and pristine beaches.

Day 13 Antsiranana, Madagascar

Framed by dramatic mountains and a stunning bay, Antsiranana offers colonial architecture, lively markets, and access to the otherworldly limestone formations of Tsingy Rouge.

Day 14 Cruising the Indian Ocean

Day 15-16 Port Louis, Mauritius

Close out your African adventure with an overnight stay in Mauritius. Stroll the Caudan Waterfront, explore the markets, or visit Chamarel's colourful earth formations.

Australia | Sydney to Sydney

Seven Seas Explorer | 10 nights | 19 December, 2026

Day 1 Sydney, Australia

We'd suggest getting here at least a day early. Jet lag is easier to deal with when you're sitting by the harbour with a flat white in hand. Sydney is one of those cities that actually lives up to the hype. Just ask anyone who's been. Sailboats on turquoise water, that Opera House silhouette, and a ferry system that doubles as a sightseeing tour. Wander The Rocks, dip into Bondi, and watch the sun set behind the Harbour Bridge.

Day 2 Eden, Australia

Small town, big views. Eden sits on the Sapphire Coast, which is exactly as pretty as it sounds. Make sure you try the oysters here, they'll put the ones on Camden Market to shame. The Killer Whale Museum is interesting enough, but the real star is the clifftops of Ben Boyd National Park.

Day 3 Cruising the Bass Strait

A good day to sleep in, hit the spa, and let someone bring you lunch. The sea does the sightseeing for you.

Day 4 Melbourne, Australia

Hip, caffeinated, and unapologetically cool. Get lost in the laneways or take the tram to St. Kilda for cake by the beach. If you've got energy to spare, wine country and the Great Ocean Road are calling.

Day 5 Phillip Island, Australia

Koalas in the treetops, seals on the rocks, and at dusk, the famous Penguin Parade. Phillip Island is a complete cuteness overload.

Day 6 Portland, Australia

Part fishing town, part living museum. After the futuristic cool of Melbourne, Portland feels a million miles (and years) away. Stroll past bluestone buildings and watch the fishing boats unload their catch. Life moves at a slightly slower pace here, so take the opportunity to recharge your batteries.

Day 7 Cruising the Tasman Sea

Christmas at sea? Yes please. Expect champagne, seafood, and zero washing up.

Day 8 Hobart, Tasmania

Tasmania is a bit of a 'room of requirement', in that whatever you're looking for, you'll find it here. There's Salamanca Market for artisan treasures, MONA for the weird and wonderful, and Mount Wellington for the views.

Day 9 Cruising the Tasman Sea

More deck time, more ocean views, more "I could get used to this."

Day 10-11 Sydney, Australia

Spend the final two days back in Sydney. Maybe it's another ferry ride, maybe it's fish and chips at Manly, maybe it's just sitting on a rooftop with a drink, staring at the skyline you'll be dreaming about on the flight home.
